Thank you to those who donated books bags filled with toiletries, diapers, supplies and money. In total 14 book bags with needed items and $100 was donated to the Hurricane Harvey Survivors in Texas.

For those who want to donate:

ADRA is responding to Hurricane Harvey in partnership with Adventist Community Services (ACS) who are leading the emergency response. ACS is actively responding through their southwestern United States regional office, currently providing hygiene kits, clothing, and cleaning supplies. ADRA is supplying financial support, as well as technical and resource coordination.

ACS will continue coordinating with local and federal agencies, along with other organizations responding in the region, to identify the greatest needs and how they can be met most effectively.

As with every disaster, monetary donations are critical and the most effective way you can provide support to those affected. Please consider making a donation today.
